Subject: GEESE

Dear Bird-X,

A couple of weeks ago I ordered some coyote decoys for a friend of mine named Steve who does not have internet service. He is the golf pro/manager of a country club located here in the Phoenix area. He had approximately 400 geese residing at the golf course because of the ponds and the regulations that we have to be humane to them. He put the decoys up and has moved them periodically like the instructions said and all but 6 are GONE!!!!!! He is absolutely thrilled. Both of us wanted to be sure that you knew the product was wonderful and totally works. The six that are left reside on the opposite side of a pond where the golfers never go.

He says that the golfers are commenting that the geese "poop" is gone and they are happy to bring thier business back to his course. They really funny thing is there are neighboring courses that have called him asking if he had a bird problem. GUESS where the geese all went!! He is just chuckling and told them that he flapped his arms and the birds all left. He is afraid of his wonderful secret getting out. I personally drive past another golf course on my way to work everyday and have never seen geese there until this past week. I bet a flock of 400 had to split up to several courses and all go somewhere!!

Thanks again, it worked and is still working.
