Re: "Yard Guard" Testimonial

Dear Sirs:

About nine months ago, I moved my family from Wisconsin out to San Diego, California, and purchased a home. The house and property were in a sorry state, and we had to spend the better part of two months full-time to fix up the property.

I was delighted to have fine growing weather for plants year 'round in California, but my front yard planters had been used by the neighborhood cats and dogs for years as their "litter boxes". Needless to say, the smell was terrible, especially when wet! I dug out the bad soil and mixed in potting soil and planted camelias and azaleas. The cats and dogs kept coming until most of the plants were dead.

We tried those smelly powders and pellets designed to repel cats and dogs, but the smell of the "cure" was worse than the smell of the "litter"! Also, those "solutions" are only effective for a few days -- and back the animals come.

Finally we found the "Yard Guard" ad in a magazine and ordered one. We installed it under the eaves of the house, aiming it down at the gardens. I replanted the beds with new plants, and waited. No cats, no dogs, no smell -- and thriving plants. When I work in the front gardens, I turn the machine off, but otherwise leave it on all of the time. We have had it on for four months now and have no problems at all! The neighbors cannot hear the sound and seem relieved that their animals are not in our yard. Not only did the "Yard Guard" save our plants, but also saved our good relations with the neighbors.

Thank you for a fine product. I have telephoned in an order for two more for the back gardens!

Sincerely,

Patrick M.
